REPORT OF FIRE CHIEF.

During the year 1931-32 we had thirty alarms. Sixteen of these were chimney fires, put out with slight loss. Three houses were a total loss—Mrs. Duffy's, Mark Palmer's and the Everett Webster house.

There were three out-of-town calls—Brooksville (2), Sedgwick (1).

Two house fires, slight loss; one automobile at Mines, total loss; and one false alarm from Lookout station. There were four calls for grass fires, charged to forest fire account.

The fire station is now directly connected with the central telephone station, so when calls come in the operator on duty starts the siren. It would be a great help if citizens would take more interest in having their chimneys cleaned.

The average number of men attending each fire was nine. Meetings are held at the station at frequent intervals for the purpose of overhauling hose and general care of the equipment. For this work the members receive no compensation and have from their own funds added materially to the efficiency of the department.

There was an overdraw on the Fire Department appropriation of $233.75. This was caused by the expense of $363.00 for 400 feet of new hose, and the wiring to the central station for the siren, $125. The equipment is now in first-class shape, and barring unforeseen circumstances, we should be able to get through this year within the appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,

L. PIPER, Chief.

Superintendent's Report

To the Superintending School Committee and Citizens of the Town of Bluehill:

I herewith submit my annual report as superintendent of schools of Bluehill:

Many times I have heard the statement made that, due to the fact that the children are so tired out and mentally fatigued with their school work, it works undue hardship upon them to require participation in special programs and activities. So at variance is this opinion with the actual facts as established through countless experiments, so baneful an effect is the suggestion in wrongly imputing to a child disqualifications which do not exist, that I feel constrained, in the interests of the pupils, to discuss the matter very briefly. If the belief were held only by the average layman, the matter might not be thought so strange, but when teachers persist in these erroneous views, it seems time they were disillusioned.

Except in the case of very small children of kindergarten or primary age, the effects of fatigue in school work are negligible. The effects of incentives and inertia more than overcome any effects of fatigue during the usual school day. Very small children need frequent intermissions because they cannot be expected to work long without breaks, but even with the little tots the intermission must not be too long else one may lose more from the decreased inertia than is gained by recovery from fatigue.

For the older children, tests show there is no demonstrable fatigue induced by the work of the day. They improve, on the average, just as much in the tasks performed at 3:30 as at 9:30 in the morning, or, in other words, there is little or no decreased capacity for work as the day rolls on. There may be a disinclination on the part of a pupil to work at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but it is due to lassitude and boredom rather than fatigue. If the subject is sufficiently motivated and the pupil is thoroughly interested in it, there is no reason why mathematics, which has the highest fatigue coefficient of any study in the curriculum, could not be given at 2 o'clock instead of 9, which is usually done because of the wrong impression held that the students at the close of day are "mentally fatigued."

My contention is, then, that no child, unless of very tender age, ever works to the point of exhaustion; that at the end of the school day, term or year, his or her fundamental capacity for work is not impaired nor reduced by the mental work he has done; that he can and should take part in special entertainments and programs; and that the impressions concerning mental fatigue are erroneous and fallacious.

Cumulative Records, Teachers' Retirement Association, and Pensions

All teachers are now required to file cumulative record cards on which must be stated their personal data, professional training, and teaching experience. The original record remains permanently on file in the superintendent's office, but teachers may have transcripts if they go outside the district to teach. This record is required with a view to determining those teachers who must join the Teachers' Retirement Association and those who, eventually, may qualify for a pension.

All teachers whose first teaching experience was in 1924 were required to join the retirement association last year, and 5 per cent. of their yearly salary was withheld and forwarded to the treasurer of the State as required by law. This year the 1925 teachers are required to join. In other words, six years of grace are allowed the new teachers; after that period the matter is compulsory. If, during the six-year period, he or she has taught but five years and one term, the teacher is still required to join the association.

The maximum annual pension for teachers is now $500. This is given to teachers who have taught thirty-five years and have reached the age of sixty years. One of the teachers who has taught in this district for many years qualified for the pension last year, and has now retired.

The State commissioner will consider two terms a school year in those years (some time ago) when there were but two terms of common school, the other term frequently being a term of free high school. In this event a teacher might have taught less than 105 terms, and still be eligible for the maximum pension.

Naturally, a teacher should take her pension if she can qualify, because if she is receiving $648 annually for teaching and can retire on a pension of $500, she is actually receiving for her services but $148, because she could get the $500 without working. Nothing prevents her from engaging in other lines of activity, the only restriction being that she cannot teach. Then, too, it would make available a position for a younger teacher who, particularly at this time, sorely needs the work. Such an arrangement would greatly benefit the younger teacher out of employment and would in no wise militate against the older teacher.

Prizes

Once again we have been informed by the State Department of Education that the Bluehill grammar school has won first prize in the National Highway Safety Campaign. This makes the second year in succession this school has won first prize, and so many successive years that it has been awarded second and third prizes that we have almost lost count of them.

The winning essay for the whole State of Maine was written by Miss Elizabeth Wescott, who received a substantial check and a medal for her remarkable achievement.

This consistent winning of awards reflects a great deal of credit upon the ability of the children and also the efficient teachers who so capably instruct the pupils.

Expression

For four terms a most practical course in expression was given every school in town by Miss Josephine W. Gray, a graduate of Castine normal school and Leland Powers School of Expression of Boston. Many citizens told me of their own accord that they regarded this instruction most worth while. It was their opinion that of the two courses, music and expression, the latter was by far the more valuable, for everybody can, and frequently must, speak in public, whereas not every person can sing, as our instruction in music is constantly revealing.

However, since I never, from the inception of this course, have made any provision in the budget for its maintenance, considering the project simply an experiment, and since, also, we were notified last year that all towns in the State would sustain a 10 per cent. reduction in their State funds for the coming year, I did not feel that we could continue the course without an increase in the budget, and consequently, I did not present the name of the teacher last June for re-election.

Music Supervisor's Report

To Edward L. Linscott, Superintendent of Schools, and Citizens of the Town of Bluehill:

Herewith I present my report as music supervisor in the town of Bluehill.

| Due to the fact that this is my second year here, I shall not, in this report, go into details regarding the work. Those of you who read my report last year may remember that I gave a rather detailed account of the work, grade for grade, so that you might get an idea of the objectives and aims of the work for each particular grade. Therefore, I do not consider it necessary to repeat, in detailed form, this year, as the work follows the same general course of study, year after year, with, of course, the introduction and advancement of new ideas, theories, etc., as they are brought to me through conventions, summer schools, etc.

This year, entering upon this same general course of study, I have introduced a few new ideas, such as, creative effort or creative art, contract tests, etc.

Just a few words regarding creative effort or creative art. It is a means of self-expression for the child. Until recently the music program, in schools, has been concerned, chiefly, with choral or group singing, music appreciation, through singing and listening, instrumental training in classes and orchestras and bands. All these activities are fundamentally important and probably are responsible for the present urge for individual expression in some definite way.

Creative effort is not a thing apart, but functions to vitalize the so-called major musical activities. Creative effort operates as a supplement and stimulus to all musical performance. Pupils in the kindergarten can improvise songs. Pupils from the fourth grade up can notate them. The important thing is not the melody or the song. It is the effect within the pupil of striving toward self-expression. The work enlists the interest of all pupils in the group; every child must participate. Thus it gives each child a chance for self-expression. The result is, that pupils who have participated in this work, hear better, read better, sing more musically; in short, are musically more sensitive in all ways than those who have tried only to discover the musical thought that someone else has expressed. Thus, the importance of creative effort or creative art.

The work in all of the schools, this year, has shown a steady improvement. The marks, both in the daily work and the written work, have been much higher than last year. The pupils sing with much more ease and are able to sing two and three part songs, with both the sol-fa syllables and words, quite satisfactorily. Summed up as a whole, the chief aims and objectives are: curing of monotone, good rote song singing, the ability to sing with both syllables and words and the pleasurable response and appreciation of the best known masterpieces, through the listening course, by use of music appreciation records.

In the academy, this year, we have chorus singing, for the entire school; and, either music appreciation or music history on Monday mornings. Also a mixed glee club of fifty members which meets on Friday mornings. A mixed quartet and double quartet, taken from the above named club, have participated in some of the school's entertainments; also, the girls' glee club of thirty-three members. An orchestra of seven members has been formed this year, meeting on Thursday evenings for practice. Due to the fact, that we did not organize earlier in the year, we have not made a public appearance as yet. Good progress is being made, however, and we hope to make a public appearance before very long, possibly before this goes to print.

In some of the schools, we have had new books, purchased with money which the teachers and pupils have earned by giving entertainments, candy sales, etc. Miss Condon's school and Miss Hinckley's school at South Bluehill and Mrs. Nickerson's school at Beech Hill are three schools which have purchased books.

I wish, in behalf of the teachers and pupils, to extend thanks to Miss Adelaide Pearson for sponsoring the Christmas masque, "The Holy Night," (stage properties, etc.), which was presented by grades 1, 2, 3 and 4, on the afternoon of December 18; also, to the librarian, Mrs. Virgil Hinckley, for her cooperation and help. We also extend thanks to the Congregational society for the gift of a piano to the Beech Hill school.

At the close of the school year last year, the usual school exhibitions were held. On the evening of May 22, grades 1, 2, 3 and 4 presented an operetta, "The Dream Boat," in two acts, before a large audience.

On the afternoon of May 28, the outlying schools gave their programs and display of school work. In the evening, grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 presented "The Lady of the Terrace," a musical comedy in two acts, before a large audience.

This year, we are planning to combine all of the schools in the town in one big pageant in observance of the bicentennial of Washington's birth, this production to be given in place of the regular exhibitions.

In closing, I wish to thank the superintendent of schools, the school committee and the teachers for their cooperation and help during the year, and the pupils for their persistent efforts to make the work a success.

Respectfully submitted,

JEANETTE SELLERS,

Music Supervisor.

Track Meet.

The custom of arranging a track meet for the three high schools in this district was revived this year and the athletic event was held at Mountain Park, May 29.

The meet was easily won by the stalwart team from Sedgwick high school, with one of the best teams ever to compete in these contests. The athletes from this school secured eight first places out of twelve events, eight second places, and sometimes both first and second in an event. Their record total score was 67 points. Bluehill-George Stevens Academy was a very poor second with a total score of only 27 points.

The outstanding feature about this phenomenal team of "six-footers" from Sedgwick was their excellent physical condition. Not one of the boys, responsible for a single point, used tobacco. Never have I seen such evidence of what condition enables an athlete to accomplish.

A four and one day dental clinic was held during the last part of April. Dr. Saunders conducted the clinic, assisted by Miss Dunphy, R. N., Hancock county public health nurse.

The project was financed through funds furnished by the Red Cross, and the small appropriation by the town for the purpose. It was attended by a large number of children as the tabulation shows. Inasmuch as we have not held a clinic in this town for some time there was considerable work to be done.

Every one of the eleven elementary schools in town sent its quota. The affair was handled just as equitably as it possibly could be done, no child being discriminated against and none shown partiality. It is an exceedingly difficult matter to handle. It is not intended to be an absolutely free clinic for every child in town for, obviously, our funds would not permit of it. If a parent can afford to pay for the work he is expected to do so, for that will make that much more money available for the necessary dental work of those children whose parents cannot have it done. Heretofore we have allowed the parent to be the sole judge of his financial condition. We have not presumed to say what parent can afford to pay and what parent cannot.

We are asking the town for $25 more this year, making the town's contribution $75, for we feel that no money in town is spent to better advantage than this small sum expended in improving the health of the children.

Tabulation of work done at the last dental clinic:

|-----------------------------|-----|
| Number of pupils attending, | 117 |
| Number of cleanings,        | 113 |
| Number of fillings,         | 99  |
| Number of extractions,      | 75  |

Child Health Day

Before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the town hall, a child health day program was presented by children from each school in the three towns. At the conclusion of the exercises, 229 children received their six and seven-point pins at the hands of Mrs. Alice McGouldrick, financial secretary of the Maine Public Health Association.

Bluehill, with 131 seven-point children, led the whole county, our nearest competitor being Bar Harbor, with 120. In addition to the pins, the Wescott school was awarded a 100 per cent. dental certificate.

In behalf of the schools in these three towns, I wish to thank Dr. Bliss and Dr. Littlefield for their kindness in making out, without charge, the medical inspection certificates for the children. Without these certificates, the children could not have qualified for the pins. In many instances the children of the other two towns came to the doctors here late on the day they were to receive their seven-point pins. Had there been a doctor's fee for the examination, the children would have had to return home without the coveted awards.

School Nurse.

Through funds furnished by the town's appropriation, 80 per cent. of the Christmas seal sale, entertainments, and contributions of summer residents, we now have a nurse, who gives her entire time to the towns of Bluehill, Brooklin, Brooksville and Sedgwick. Before this arrangement was made we had to depend for our school inspection work upon the Hancock county nurse, who, because her activities were scattered over a large area, could give us only a small amount of her time.

This service, known as "The Four Town Nursing Service," is affiliated with the Maine Public Health Association. Mrs Theresa Anderson, R. N., supervising nurse, makes periodic inspection of the service. The nurse who has been in charge of this field since last summer is Miss Pauline Grover, R. N., a graduate of the Eastern Maine General hospital and with special work at Simmons college.

Through the kindness of Dr. Bliss, the services of Miss Grover may be secured by calling the hospital through the day; at night she may be reached at her boarding place, Mrs. Irene Woodward's. The school nurse's report follows:

Nursing Report

To the Superintendent of Schools and Citizens of Bluehill:

I herewith submit a report of the nursing service from June 1 to December 31 inclusive. The health program before that time was carried on by Miss Winifred Dunphy, R. N., public health nurse for Hancock county.

School Health Supervision: 285 pupils received the annual full inspection; 44 of that number, from the grade schools, were six-point pupils.

| Defects found            | Corrections since last year |
|--------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Teeth                    | 96                          |

| 10 per cent. underweight | 14                          |
| 20 per cent. overweight  | 6                           |

Notifications of the defects found were sent to parents. Seven pupils were inspected for special reasons and follow-up visits were made to interest parents in correcting defects. Visits are made each week to the grade schools, group inspections and health talks given to interest the pupils in health and to give them a desire to practice good health habits. The health habit charts are used in all the schools.

Total, 300

Nineteen babies and fifteen adults attended the three well-baby conferences held at the academy during the summer. During that time the work was all instructive and bedside care, although the service covers a generalized program which deals with the life of an individual from the cradle, or before it, to the grave.

The value of bedside care or the "visiting nurse" was well demonstrated and much appreciated in one particular instance. In a large family the mother was ill with tuberculosis and regular visits were made for several weeks to relieve her suffering until her death.

Through the generosity of the Village Improvement Society, the cooperation of Dr. Bliss, the hospital and the Hancock county health fund, two children were taken to Bangor for vision tests and received glasses. Three children have had tonsils and adenoids removed.

An exhibition of correct and incorrect foods for children, also samples of school lunches, were shown during the three days of the Bluehill fair.

A course has been started at the academy with the Senior girls in home nursing and child care. The aim of this course is to teach them the value of health, their duty in the prevention and control of disease, child care, simple methods in first aid, and the care of the sick in the home. The hospital has cooperated by allowing the use of the classroom for demonstration work.

The Ford car which was purchased by the service in September has proved to be invaluable in reaching the outlying districts. It is very much appreciated.

Plans will soon be made for the dental clinic which is one of the largest of the health projects.

Hearty thanks is extended to the committee, teachers, and citizens for their keen interest and cheerful cooperation. Since the health of the individual reflects on the general health of the community, we hope to have the entire health program so well developed that all may "live most and serve best."

Respectfully submitted,

THE FOUR-TOWN HEALTH SERVICE

By PAULINE A. GROVER, R. N.

Public Health Nurse.

Teachers' Institute

The annual teachers' institute for the three towns in this district was held at Sedgwick Friday, May 15. Among the speakers were Miss Grace Barr of New York University; Miss Olive G. Moulton, reading specialist, Boston; Principal Philip Kimball, Machias normal school; Lloyd Bertchi, New York City, and Louis P. Benezet, Manchester, N. H., noted historian and one of the highest-salaried superintendents in the whole East. At this meeting, also, a demonstration in typewriting was given by an instructor in the Maine School of Commerce furnished through the courtesy of Principal Hasson.

The next institute will be held Friday, May 20, in the new Junior-Senior high school building at Brooklin. This will be an ideal place in which to hold this annual event, as the building is as modern in its construction and appointments as may be found in the whole State of Maine.

Bluehill-George Stevens Academy

The following faculty has charge of the work in the academy at the present time: Kenneth Young, principal, science and mathematics; Mildred C. Hinckley, assistant, Latin and history; Eleanor King, assistant, French and English; Ruth Moody, assistant, commercial subjects; Jeanette Sellers, music; Pauline A. Grover, R. N., instructor in home nursing.

Of the two new assistants, Miss King is a graduate of Colby College and has had over four years' experience; Miss Moody is a graduate of Wheaton, with an A. B. from this college where she majored in Latin, and also a graduate of the secretarial course at Boston University, where she received a B. S. in Practical Arts and Letters. This training gives her an excellent academic and technical background. She has also had office experience as secretary to the director of extension service at Connecticut Agricultural College.

The enrollment this year is the largest it has been for a great many years, there being quite a number of tuition students from Brooksville and Sedgwick.

At the last meeting of the New England College Entrance Certificate Board, the Bluehill-George Stevens Academy was dropped from the approved list and can no longer send its graduates without examination to the colleges comprising the New England group, a privilege which the academy has long enjoyed. The school now lapses back to the status of all of the small high schools in the surrounding towns.

An examination of the ranks of the students at the close of the school year last June revealed the fact that there were altogether too many failures and, in consequence, the trustees voted that, beginning with the fall term 1931, all students must make up the work.

in which they fail, thereby receiving at least a passing grade. Heretofore, the matter had evidently been largely optional. With a few exceptions, everybody appeared to be following the lines of least resistance, the faculty meting out zeros in class the students complacently taking them, no effort, in the main, made or required to make up the lesson, and, as inevitable results, failure of courses at the end of the term and year and a pronounced lowering of the standards of scholarship of the school.

The trustees also made the following rules: All teachers must remain in the building to be available for make-up work and student conference, for at least one hour after school, preferably longer, unless engaged in extra-curricula duties. One member of faculty must remain in building during noon hour. There shall be no one-sessions; school shall be in session every day, regardless of storms or traveling.

There are many improvements which ought to be made in the building, and in many instances will be required to be made directly. In the first place, the State is now requiring the trustees to install a modern system of plumbing and sanitation. If this is not done this year the State subsidy will be withheld. The State inspector recommends that water for the purpose be piped from the brook. It is estimated that the expense of pump, septic tank, fixtures, remodeling rooms for toilets, pressure tank, etc., will be, at the very least, $1,000.

In regard to heating the building, radiators (such as we have in the commercial room) should displace the antiquated coils in all the other rooms. I requested the American Radiator Co.'s heating engineer to compute the amount of radiation required and give the trustees an estimate of the approximate cost of the same (exclusive of a new boiler) which he did, and will furnish blue prints and specifications when those in charge are ready to start the work.

The arrangement of windows in the assembly room does not meet the State requirements in this respect. The light should come from left and rear or all from the left—unilateral. There should be no cross lights. The total area of light should equal one-fifth of the number of square feet in the floor area.

The principal's report follows:

Principal's Report

To the Superintendent of Schools of Bluehill and the Trustees of Bluehill-George Stevens Academy:

I submit for your consideration my report as principal of Bluehill-George Stevens Academy.

The academy opened September 14, 1931, with an enrollment of 85 pupils—47 girls and 38 boys. The Freshman class of 31 boys and girls was one of the largest to enter the academy in recent years, and more than offset the losses in the other three classes during vacation. These losses were especially heavy in the present Sophomore class, which had seventeen pupils last June; only thirteen returned to school in September. The Senior class lost one member and the Junior class gained two members. One new pupil has entered the academy since the beginning of the fall term, and six pupils have left school, three because of inability to do satisfactory work, one because of illness, and two because of a transfer to other schools. The pupils are registered by classes as follows:

| Class | CollegePrep. | Gen.Course | Comm. | ClassTotal |
|--------------|--------------------------|------------------------|--------------|------------------------|
| Senior       |                          |                        |              |                        |
| Boys         |                          | 8                      | 1            |                        |
| Girls        | 3                        | 2                      | 7            | 21                     |

| Per cent. of total |      |      |    |    |
| each course        | 12.8 | 44.2 | 43 |    |

In comparison with last year's statistics, the above table shows a slight gain of 2 per cent. in the commercial course and a corresponding loss in the college preparatory course. This variation, while slight, does tend to show that few of the students who enter the academy have any intention of attending institutions of higher learning at the time of entering the academy.

Both parent and student should seriously consider the possibility of the student's desiring to attend college. Frequently this desire does not become known to the student himself until he has attended the academy for two or three years. Many students who wish to attend college oftentimes do not begin with the college preparatory course in their Freshman year because, at that time, it seems improbable that they can continue their studies further than high school. The result is that entrance into college is much more difficult than if they had taken the college preparatory course.

The records made in college by students who have graduated from the academy during the past few years have, on the whole, been excellent. This result speaks highly of the fundamental training received by these students while attending the academy. A recent survey of freshman records at the University of Maine shows that the percentage of honor grades for students from this academy is from 14 to 16 per cent. higher than the average of honor grades for other academies and high schools in the State. Furthermore, no students from the academy have been dropped during their Freshman year at the University of Maine because of inability to do satisfactory work.

This year there have been two changes in the faculty. Miss Eleanor E. King, a graduate of Colby College, replaces Miss Evelyn H. Hunt as teacher of English and French. Miss Ruth M. Moody, a graduate of Wheaton College and of Boston University, takes the place of Miss Ursula C. Matthews as head of the commercial department.

The gift of ten dollars to the Student Activities Association from the Village Improvement Society is appreciated, especially this year.

The class of 1928 paid for the laying of a cement walk from the academy building to the street. This walk is a great improvement over the muddy path, and adds to the appearance of the academy.

The present Senior class has joined with the Student Activities Association in presenting the school with a Ditto machine. The class of 1927 donated the money to purchase a stand for the Ditto. This machine has been in almost constant use by the teachers since its arrival, and has already proved a valuable aid in the preparation of individual copies of examinations and summaries for the students. Tickets and posters for the basketball games have also been printed on the Ditto. Plans are now under way for the publishing of a small school paper.

The Student Activities Association has also bought two new sets of reference books—one for history and one for English.

New student activities planned for this year are debating, school paper, and a series of assembly programs which will be prepared and presented by the students.

During the winter term a new course, home nursing and child care, is being given by Miss Pauline A. Grover, R. N., public health nurse. The class, which is composed of the Senior girls, meets twice a week at the academy for classroom work and at the hospital for laboratory work. The girls taking the course are very enthusiastic about it. The course is expected to continue about fifteen weeks.

The trustees announce that running water and modern lavatories are to be installed in the building in the near future. This will be one of the most outstanding improvements made in the academy and should aid in creating a correct appreciation of the laws of health and cleanliness.

The trustees have had a new bell system installed which is a great improvement over the old system, as all of the bells can now be rung from the main room. They have bought twenty new desks of the movable type, two new bulletin boards, a typewriter table, and a paper cutter. They have also had the front basement wall repaired.

Horace K. Duffy post, No. 85, A. L., is this year offering an award which shall be known as "The American Legion Award." This award is to be presented to that boy or girl of the graduating class of the Bluehill-George Stevens Academy who shall have shown to the highest degree, during his or her attendance at the academy, the following qualities: Honesty, fairness, reliability, leadership, school and public spirit, and commendable conduct in associations with others.

The conditions of the George Stevens Scholarship Award given annually by the trustees have been changed this year so that there would be no conflict between them and those of the American Legion Award.

The new conditions are as follows: "This award shall be offered annually to that boy and girl who, during the school year, shall have shown the greatest advancement and improvement in their school work. Rank alone shall not serve as the basis of this award, but the average ranks of all studies shall count as 80 points and effort shall count as 20 points."

I wish to express my appreciation to the teachers, superintendent and trustees for their cooperation and assistance during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

KENNETH C. YOUNG.

Repairs

Out of the appropriation of $1,000 for repairs, $150 was used to renew insurance policies which expired this year. The annual $100 was expended for cleaning schoolhouses and outbuildings and oiling floors. Other repairs and improvements are as follows:

Eastward—Underpinning pointed up; twelve new adjustable seats; set of new wall maps; new settee.

Grades 5 and 6—New adjustable seats.

South Bluehill—Trimming painted.

Primary—Walls and ceiling washed by painters.

Beech Hill—New stove; fence painted.

Mines—Interior painted.

In addition to the above, minor repairs have been made on all the schoolhouses, the chimneys in all buildings cleaned out, and there has been the usual expense of the electric light bills, cleaning, etc.

This next year, insurance policies expire on the Mines, Village (two policies), Wescott, and East Bluehill. It will require $200 to renew them.

Recommendations

In accordance with our usual custom, we are making a budget for the coming year, placing a conservative estimate on the cost of each item connected with the schools, and taking into consideration the probable receipts. We recommend the following amounts for the ensuing year:

|                          |         |
|--------------------------|---------|
| Common schools,          | $9,000 |
| Text-books and supplies, | 1,100   |
| Repairs,                 | 900     |

This is $700 less than we received last year for maintenance of schools, or a reduction in the tax rate of more than half a mill just in this department alone. We are economizing in every way possible. We do not propose, however, to reduce teachers' salaries, which are low anyway for a town of this size and valuation. To attempt to save money by reducing salaries would result in having to engage inexperienced and poorly-trained instructors, which obviously would result in impairment of efficiency and, in consequence, would be poor economy. A reduction in salary below the point of guaranteeing an efficient school system is a waste of public funds.

This year, in spite of a reduction in our State funds of $435, we have been able, by practicing various economies, as detailed elsewhere in this report, to adjust our expenditures to our receipts, which differs considerably from our standing last year, when for the first time an overdraft appeared.

For the past two years the academy has made very heavy requisitions for text-books, using one-half of the appropriation. This has been due to a much larger enrollment than usual and also to the fact that all the books seemed to wear out at the same time. This is not to be wondered at, for the average life of a text-book in constant use isn't over three or four years. Not so many books will be required next year, so we are reducing the recommendation $100. The recommendation for repairs is $100 less, and for common schools $500 less.

General Remarks

In addition to the annual institute, a number of teachers' meetings have been held this year for the discussion of pedagogical matters relating to tests and measurements and the new course of study.

It is planned to hold this year appropriate exercises for the observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Each school will fittingly celebrate the event in its own room, as is always the custom, and in addition, there will be a joint observance by all the schools.

We are most grateful to the friends of the schools for the gifts they have made us and other assistance rendered in making our teaching more effective. Miss Adelaide Pearson has furnished many devices for motivating school work, such as cut-outs, exhibits, posters, pictures, etc. She has also made arrangements for the librarian, Miss Anne Hinckley, to visit the schools once a week for the purpose of telling stories and exchanging the library books and posters. The children in each school are encouraged to send in to the library, for displaying there, any form of hand work they have done or any rare specimens they may have collected.

The Village Improvement Society has continued its policy of contributing $10 to each of the village schools to be used in purchasing ingredients for the hot lunch, library books, music appreciation records, and other enterprises. The society also voted, after Miss Grover (the school nurse) had explained the need, to pay for glasses for some worthy cases in the schools.

The primary school at East Bluehill gave promise in the summer of being so small that I recommended that it be discontinued this year at least. Should the enrollment be sufficiently large to warrant its continuance next year, the former arrangement of two schools will undoubtedly be restored. The citizens at East Bluehill readily acknowledge that we would not be justified in maintaining a school for so few pupils.

Then, too, by transporting the eighth grade pupils to the village, it relieved the teacher of the combined school of extra work and gave the pupils of the upper grammar grades much better preparation.

The time is not far distant when something will have to be done in regard to furnishing better and more adequate accommodations for the village pupils and those children from the outlying schools who are being transported to the village in ever-increasing numbers. The sanitary conditions, lighting and ventilating arrangements in the old academy are poor and, since the town does not own the building, we cannot ourselves recommend or make the necessary extensive alterations and improvements. The primary building, the only schoolhouse in the village owned by the town, must be made at once to conform to State requirements in respect to lighting. Flush closets and a modern plumbing system would be a great improvement over the chemical closets, as the latter, in turn, are a pronounced improvement over the old detached building arrangement.

It will resolve itself soon into either an entirely new building with at least four rooms, or else the remodeling of the village schoolhouse for the purpose. Several years ago I requested a State Department official to examine this building with a view to determining if it would be possible to make changes in it in regard to entrances, stairways, etc., to provide four rooms, install proper plumbing, heating, lighting, and ventilation, and otherwise make it modern. He assured me it could be done, and drew a preliminary draft of plans to show necessary changes. By changing the entrances, etc., the general architecture of the schoolhouse was changed and a fine-looking building resulted.

There is no better way in which funds received from league dues, janitor work, and gifts from societies can be expended than in the purchase of good books.

Miss Stover's room has recently bought 25 and Miss Snow's grades, 16. These are most attractively bound books and contain fascinating stories.

We are grateful to the Congregational church for the gift of a piano, which we have placed in the Beech Hill school, where it is much appreciated by both teacher and pupils. We also received from Mrs. Coggan a gift of an easel which we placed in the same school, where it is of service in displaying large posters.

In concluding this report, I wish to thank the members of the superintending school committee, the selectmen, and all others who have assisted me in my endeavor to make the school system more efficient.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD L. LINSOTT,

Superintendent of Schools.
